Issue explodes! Fireworks ordinance changes

It's official ... at least for now. The Romulus Fireworks Ordinance has been amended to eliminate temporary stands from selling, limiting the distribution of legal fireworks to permanent (store) sites.

The motion passed on its second reading Monday night on a 5-1 vote, with Fred Junior Block the dissenter.

On the recommendation of councilman Barry Baumann, the amended ordinance was put into "emergency" effect on the grounds of the "health and welfare of the community."

Donald Kehn, a businessman who makes part of his living selling fireworks and will effectively be put out of business by the ruling objected, stating that Baumann was "wrongfully using the terms health and safety as a crutch to put (the ordinance) into immediate effect."

"Since the new ordinance reads that 'a permit for the sale of fireworks shall be issued only for a permanent building structure ... under no circumstances shall fireworks be sold from a mobile vehicle or from a temporary stand or structure,' then this has no rational relationship to public safety. It doesn't stop the sale of fireworks."

"As far commercial reality, this move could be construed as a means to drive certain people out of business," said Kehn, "that seems to be its primary intent, instead of being a regulation that reasonably safeguards the public safety."

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks responded that the move was an attempt to "clean up the image of the city, not to drive anyone out of business. But when I pick up a newspaper and see Romulus referred to as the 'illegal fireworks capital of Michigan,' that's too much."

Banks went on to say that Kehn was "the unfortunate victim in this whole thing," because while he "always ran a clean, honest business, others didn't, selling illegal fireworks and breaking the ordinance."

Kehn responded that the article she was referring to, which ran in last year's Detroit Free Press, appeared when "an ex-

Councilman William Wadsworth said he thought that was a good, fair idea, but that there was no support for it.

"This business is like other ones," said Kehn, "plans have to be made in advance. I've already paid my insurance — $1,000,000 with Lloyds of London — and for my inventory of fireworks. There are no refunds available to Romulus policeman who wanted his job back and was refused went and took a reporter by the hand, showing him all the illegal spots he seemingly knew about."

When asked why he voted the way he did, Baumann answered that his "position has been clear right from the start. When I ran for this office," he said, "one of my main goals was to clean up the image of Romulus."

Baumann stated that when Kehn circulated flyers on the subject in a subdivision last year, asking people to call their council members, he received many calls — almost all in favor of removing the temporary stands. "The people made it clear to me that they should go, so I say they should go," said Baumann.

At the last meeting of the council, councilman Jimmy Raspberry made a motion that the issue be put on the November ballot. There was no support.

Kehn asked the council "If you feel that you must approve this ordinance, that you make the effective date of the section prohibiting temporary stands structures after July 6, 1984."

me. I asked the Mayor at the first of the year that if the ordinance was going to be changed, to please do it quickly so this wouldn't be the case. As it is, it will go into effect (without the emergency effect being activated) just three days before what would be the first selling day."

Kehn then requested information of the referendum procedure, invoking the Freedom of Information Act to "make sure I have everything I need. Not that anyone has or would give me false information on purpose, but face it, I'm on one side and city hall is on the other."

If Kehn is able to gather "approximately 882 signatures," according to clerk Linda Choate, within a time span of 45 days, it would suspend the ordinance until it was put to a vote of the people.

According to Kehn, he will lose approximately $10,000 because of the late action.

"It sticks in my throat and makes me quite bitter," said Kehn. "I know you're just doing your jobs, I just think you're doing them wrong."

In the clink— for too much drink?

Romulus residents beware! Watering your lawn on the wrong day could land you in the slammer!

At least, according to the renewed water service contract between the city of Detroit and Romulus, as passed by city council at their May 7 meeting.

It reads, in part: "Effective June 13, 1955, the use of Detroit water for the purpose of watering lawns, gardens, shrubs and trees shall be restricted.

"Properties bearing an odd house number may use water for the purposes stated above on the odd calendar dates such as the 1st, 3rd, 5th, etc.

"Properties bearing an even number — on the even calendar dates such as 2nd, 4th, 6th, etc."

Everyone will undoubtedly give a giant sigh of relief though, when they learn that things aren't quite as bleak as they appear:

"Provided, however, that there shall be no restrictions on the use of water on Sundays."

There's no need to take to sneaking around the garden at night with a sprinkler can though, because as far as anyone remembers, no one has ever been arrested in Romulus for "Even watering on an odd day."

The carnival's in town!

Monday afternoon, in the cool, crisp spring air that was dotted with occasional bursts of raindrops, The Carnival came to town.

Trucks pulling unassembled W.G. Wade Show amusement rides populated the area behind the Romulus Recreation Center at Shook and Bibbins — the festival site for the second annual Romulus Michigan Week Celebration.

As can be seen in the photos, workers were kept busy painting, sanding, sawing and hoisting: turning today's boards and beams into tomorrow's magic!

Young Romulus residents made their presence known early on, cheering as the trucks pulled into the festival area as the drivers waved. Many stayed around to watch the transformation begin, as these youngsters on their bicycles did, and began making their plans already as to which ride will be their first when the carnival opens its turnstiles at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

In addition to 25 rides from W.G. Wade Shows, festivities will include continuous stage entertainment and nightly dancing to live bands.

The carnival will be featured as part of the Romulus Michigan Week Festival through Sunday.

Reserve officers settle grievance

As a result of settling a grievance with the Romulus Police Officers Association, the Reserve Police Officers will be identified in the following ways in the future:

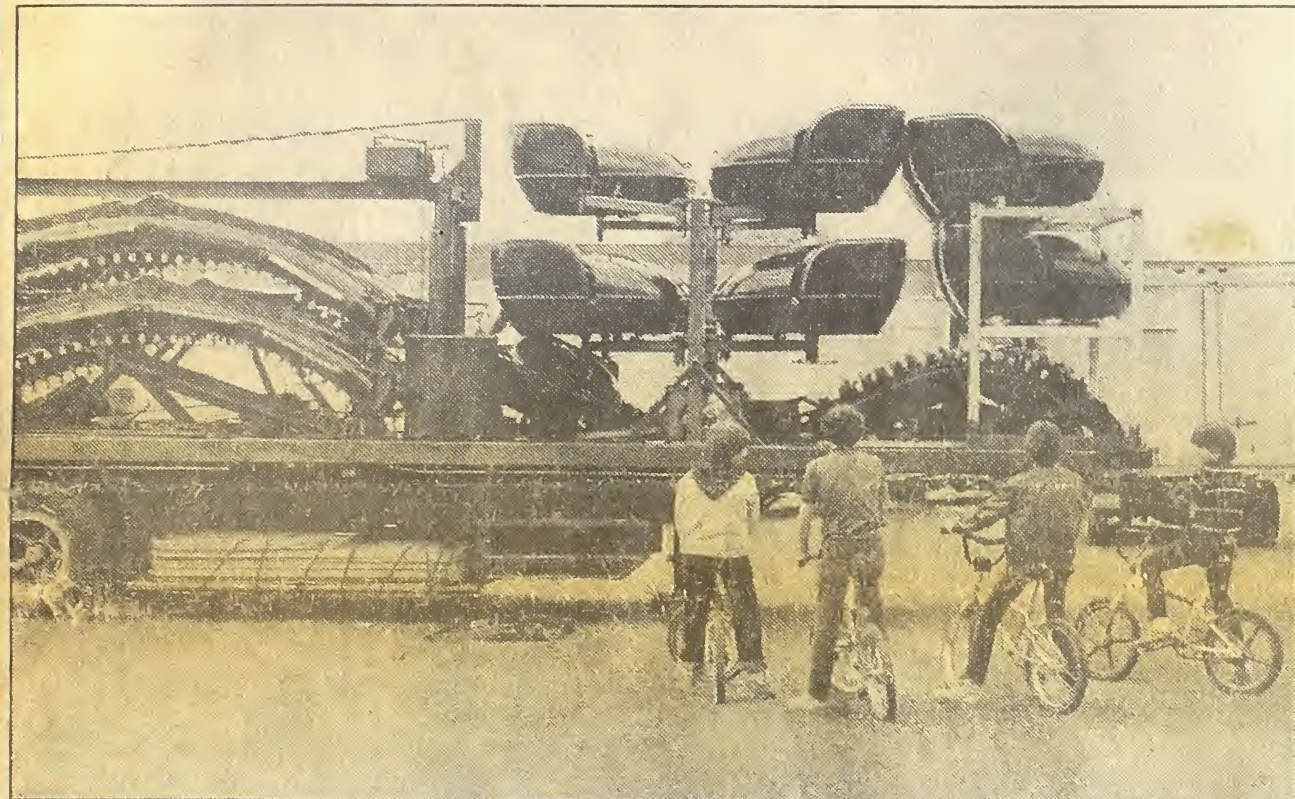

— The car they will be using for the Crime Prevention patrols will be all white rather than the blue and white markings of the regular cars. Also, the overhead lights will be amber instead of blue and red.

— A slight change in the uniform will consist of a red band on the hats and a new shoulder patch which makes it easier to distinguish the Reserve Officers from the regular officers.

The changes not only satisfied a grievance which was at the stage of going to an arbitrator, but also will help the citizens to identify a Reserve Officer from a regular Officer. The transition should be completed by June 1.

There'll be no doubt as to what's going on in Romulus this week, thanks to the use of four large billboards donated by Gannett Outdoor to help promote the Romulus Michigan Week Festival. Here, Mayor Beverly McAnally excitedly shows off the billboard located at Van Born and Henry Ruff Road.

CFI opens new terminal

Contract Freighters, Inc. of Joplin,

Mo., have opened a terminal in Romulus, the third new terminal opening for CFI within the past year. The facility is located at 10701 Middlebelt Road.

The 30-trailer terminal will allow CFI to better serve the automotive industry so integral to the economy of this area.

Edwin Stockman has been named operations manager at the terminal. Local drivers are Douglas Shinaberry and Douglas Roark Jr. Phil Eoll is regional marketing manager.

CFI operates more than 450 tractors nationwide and owns more than 750 van trailers. The company's 1984 revenues are expected to reach nearly $50 million.

4 legged enlistees required

The Department of Defense Dog Center at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, is offering a rewarding career in the military for your dog. You can either donate your pet or receive up to $400, if the dog is accepted into the program.

Recruiters at the center are looking for German Shepherds, Rottweillers and Bovier des Flanders that possess the right qualifications for the military working dog program. They must show predominant characteristics of their breed, be between 1 and 3 years old, be at least 22 inches tall at the shoulders, and weigh at least 55 pounds. The dogs must pass certain psychological and physical tests, including a response to gunfire, a test for aggression, and a physical examination.

Headquarters Air Training Command trains the dogs in a variety of duties including protection of the President, detection of explosives and narcotics, and patrolling military installations.

For more information on how to enlist your pet in the military, call toll-free 1-800-531-1066.

Outpatient clinic sought

Family and Neighborhood Services of Romulus has filed an application of a certificate of need with the Division of Health Facility Planning and Construction, Michigan Department of Public Health, for the establishment of an outpatient psychiatric clinic at 19101 Inkster Road, Romulus.

The facility will provide specialized services for the developmentally disabled.

In keeping with state and federal regulations requiring state approval and a recommendation by the area Health Systems Agency board before making a change in service or ownership, or incurring a capital expenditure, the facility applied for the certificate.

BPW holds dinner

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club held a progressive dinner on May 5 with 15 members starting at their eating spree at the home of Faye Sotomayor for punch and appetizers. Entertainment was the watching of the Kentucky Derby.

From there the members went to the home of Sophie Zoller for the main dish, salad, tea and coffee, with 12 members participating.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble

Don't throw away the fat you skim off soup or stew; a lot of flavorful liquid comes with it. Instead, freeze the fat in a straight-sided container, then unmold. Cut off the fat (NOW you can discard it) and save the frozen cooking liquid to flavor soup, gravy, etc.

If you don't have an elegant china steam funnel for your pies, how about a "smokestack" or raw macaroni stuck right in the middle of the top crust? Prevents bubbling over.

Canned soup can be the base of an elegant first course. Mix tomato soup and green pea soup, thinned with water and white wine, and stir in some flaked crabmeat.

Does salad have to be greens? Not necessarily. The citrus tang of orange or grapefruit is the perfect complement to entrees that are rich or bland.

Food history: In 1869 Mr. H. J. Heinz opened a food factory in Sharpsburg, Pennsylvania. His first "variety" was prepared horseradish.

We make food history every day at Capt. Nemo's.

Case of arson?

Romulus blaze leaves Union Oil warehouse "gutted" but standing

According to a Romulus firefighter in the aftermath of the blaze, a fire that ripped through the Union Oil Co. of California Saturday left the two-story concrete block building "gutted".

"It was a large storage warehouse, used to store oil, auto parts, things like that," said George Sparr. "It appeared that most of the top floor was used to store records and other paper documents, because it just went up."

The Romulus Fire Department received its first call at 4:05 p.m. Saturday, and within minutes every piece of firefighting equipment the city had was being used.

"When we first got there," said Sparr, "the fire was coming up through the roof of the building, which may be where it started. There were literally aisles and aisles of paperwork sitting up there."

A total of eight firetrucks were on the scene until the blaze was finally doused at approximately 6:30 p.m. Firehouses in neighboring communities were on alert in case they were needed.

The warehouse was located at 29120 Wick, on the corner of Middlebelt and Wick.

According to Sparr, the biggest problem fighting the fire stemmed from the oil that was stored there. "The oil was everywhere, erupting everywhere," he said, "when the oil mixed with the water it made everything very, very slippery. Footing was extremely bad ... it was a real mess."

It was unknown how the fire started as of Tuesday morning, but it is known that the State Fire Marshal had been down looking at the wreckage on Monday.

Arson remains a possibility, although there is nothing to indicate that so far.

There were 13 arsons in Romulus in the first three months of this year, and a February arson resulted in the death of a Detroit man.

Congressman Ford honors Huron girls

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) presented his annual Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth at a special ceremony Sunday, May 6, at the Wayne County Extension and Education Center in Wayne.

The annual ceremony, which honors young people for outstanding accomplishments and volunteer services, was held before a capacity crowd of more than 250 people, and was followed by a reception for the recipients and their guests.

This year's winners were chosen by a 17-member citizens committee chaired by Elva Ryall of Garden City. The recipients from this area were both residents of Huron Township.

Kimberly A. Laurain, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laurain, was honored for her dedicated service to her school, church and community. She is a member of Friends of the School and volunteers at Applefest. As a leader she is always encouraging others to become involved in quality school experiences.

Renee Manny, 20, daughter of William and Judy Manny, was honored for coaching HAA Basketball and currently volunteering her time as a life guard for conditioning high school athletes. Prior to going on duty as a life guard, and as she entered the pool area of a senior citizens swimming class, through her quick actions she was able to save the life of a drowning senior.

Jobs available for Romulus, Huron Township youths

There will be a total of 180 job openings for residents of Romulus, Belleville, Huron and Van Buren this summer for those between the ages of 16 and 21 and that meet the economic requirements.

The Summer Youth Program is a federally-funded project that runs from June 18 through Aug. 14. Those involved will work 32-hour weeks, Monday through Thursday, for $3.35 an hour.

Bill Murphy, who heads the program at Romulus High School, says that the 180 allocations will be divided up according to school district size, although one needn't be in school to apply.

"As a matter of fact," Murphy said, "we've even had quite a few college kids who needed jobs and met the financial requirements working in the past."

Since Governor Blanchard's youth Job Corp is being held hostage in the House (tacked onto both tax cut bills), Murphy says it appears likely that this will be the only youth employment around to have state or federal funding.

Last year, workers held a variety of jobs such as painters, landscaping, child care, maintenance and clerical. Murphy says that they "try to fit people with the type of job they want, but it's usually not feasible."

Those interested in obtaining an application form should contact the following: in Belleville and Van Buren, Barb Brendkte at 697-9133; in Huron, Raymond Vollmar, 782-1436; and in Romulus, Bill Murphy at 941-2311.

Elvira "Tootie" Fischer and Mayor Beverly McAnally are shown going over the proclamation designating May 15 through June 15 as Muscular Dystrophy Month in Romulus. The proclamation urges the citizens to contribute to the fight against Muscular Dystrophy, which affects some 250,000 Americans, most of them children, to whom it is nearly always fatal. Ms. Fischer is the 1984 Volunteer chairman for Romulus. Those wishing to help in this worthwhile cause may volunteer by calling "March Against Time" Headquarters at 937-9123.

Mayor's exchange day

Mayor Beverly McAnally will be visiting Harper Woods on May 20 and 21, as part of Mayor's Exchange Day. In turn, Mayor James Haley of Harper Woods will be in Romulus on Friday, May 25.

Among the activities planned for the visiting Haley area city tour, a meeting with department heads, lunch at the Senior Nutrition (Drop-In) Center and a cocktail hour and dinner at the Holiday Inn.

Campbell elected vice-president

Richard Campbell, Romulus school board member, has been elected vice-president of the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation (MAISL) organization.

Campbell, who has been a board member for four years, is the representative of the Romulus Community school board to the 11-district organization, composed of school board members and superintendents.

MAISL is an advocacy organization on behalf of local school districts, "watchdogging" the state legislation concerning schools.

Huron to meet the candidates

Tonight (Wednesday) is the time for residents of the 21st District to come to Meet The Candidate Night, as all 10 candidates running for the seat vacated by the untimely death of Richard Sullivan will be in attendance to field questions from the audience.

You can meet the candidates at 7:30 at the Huron Township Community Center, located on Mineral Springs — Waltz.

Calendars offered by band

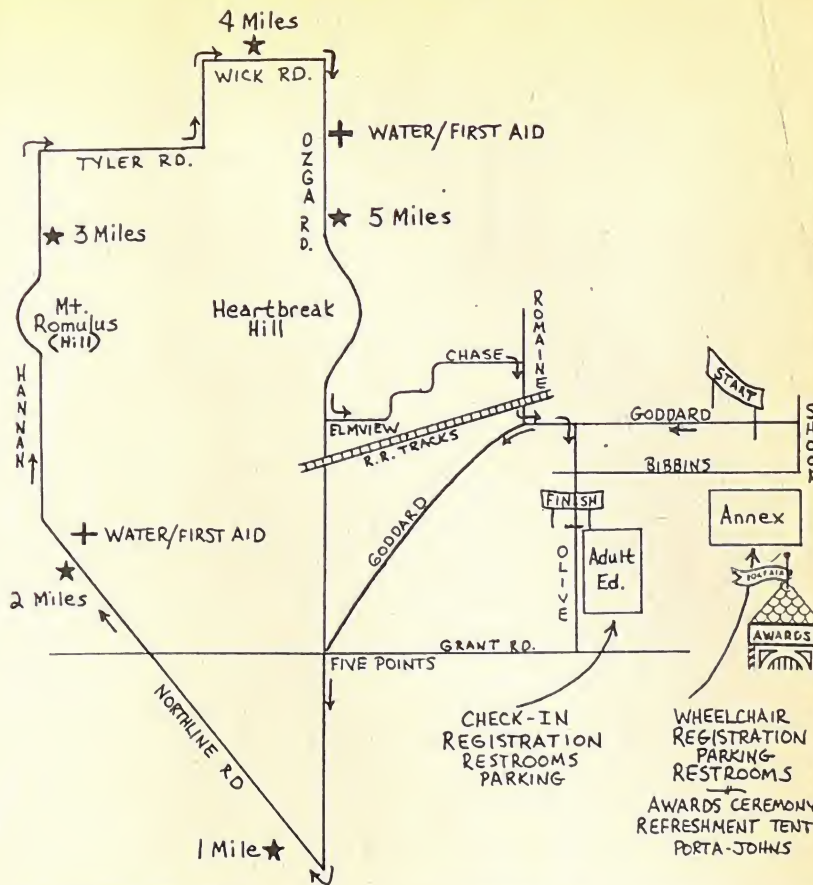

The Romulus High School Marching Eagles will this month present their community birthday calendar, the first of an annual fund raising event sponsored by Romulus Band Boosters.

Those who purchase a $4 calendar will receive their family members' birthdays on the calendar.

The calendars also include anniversaries, community service club meetings, high school athletic events, holidays, church meetings, school concerts, a yearly high school schedule and advertisements from local businesses.

Calendars may be ordered by contacting a school band member, band parent or by calling Dan Bussard, 941-6757.

All orders and information regarding birthdates must be received by May 30. Proceeds from calendar sales will be used to purchase instruments and uniforms for the growing high school marching, symphonic, concert, honors and jazz bands.

Belleville High School class of 1969, where are you?

Your class reunion awaits you on Saturday, Aug. 18, at the UAW Hall in Ypsilanti. Festivities go from 6 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. The cost is $35 per couple or $17.50 for singles.

Michigan Week festival promotes needed spirit

City Council meetings in the city of Westland are more than a tad reminiscent of World War II; the large council chambers often are filled to standing room as concerned citizens voice their views and watch the council and Mayor Charles Pickering tangle.

In Inkster, the setting is more serene, but residents have been known to fill the chamber to capacity, even prompting a recent move out of the cramped council chambers to a larger hall.

Huron Township meetings can be counted on for sparks flying as concerned locals get involved in the decision-making that shapes not only their community, but also their lives. They sit there, (sometimes) waiting for the appropriate time to get their two cents in. Usually, it's more like a dollar's worth.

Westland on occasion draws well over 100 people to its meetings, while Inkster brings in 50 or so "regulars." Huron Township, which has folding chairs for about 30, more often than not has two or three times that amount in attendance.

Romulus, on the other hand, with its spacious chambers, rarely seems to attract more than two or three people.

Participation at city council meetings is a very healthy thing for a community; it not only shows an interest in neighborhood affairs, but it is the best way to keep a check on elected officials.

It is for this latter reason that some officials in the area would just as soon have the council play to an empty house.

So why do only a few Romulus residents bother to show up at council meetings? Is apathy really that rampant in Romulus? Do the citizens take things that much for granted? If so, they're the biggest losers.

If land is rezoned for a pornographic bookstore, no doubt people will vehemently protest it — after the fact. But chances are, if they had attended council meetings they could have nipped it in the bud. This is what neighboring communities are rallying to do regarding landfills, but apathy seems to be the word in Romulus.

One is led to believe that Romulus residents must vote for their council members and other elected officials by the sound of their names or the pictures on their campaign posters, not because of their politics. How else?

Sure, sometimes meetings are boring, and maybe downtown Romulus doesn't have a shopping mall, but go there and you'll find people involved in trying to uplift the community and doing a damn good job of it too. Others, who have lived in Romulus for years, don't even know where the downtown area is.

Mayor Beverly McNally, members of the council, and people like Bill Simonds and Sharon Henry are doing their best to make Romulus a better place to live, but until they find a way to get more residents involved, they may be fighting a downhill battle. But, at least they're fighting.

The Romulus Michigan Week Festival, which kicks off today, is an excellent chance for residents to gather, meet friends and make new ones, while celebrating in honor of the community they call home. It's a definite step in the right direction.

Now, if people would only tell their friends "next time let's meet in the council chambers, say Monday, at eight o'clock ..."

Trivial Pursuit

Most of us are aware of the latest rage in "parlor games," Trivial Pursuit.

The game is designed to test the players' knowledge of what, for most of us, is useless information about various topics.

Few need an in-depth knowledge of, say, the cast of the movie "Beach Blanket Bingo." If, of course, you are the author of a book on the subject, it may be of some significance, otherwise, you can probably function without being able to recite the cast credits verbatim.

What comes to mind is an old saying, "One man's trash is another man's treasure." Like a game of cards, we often see the discards of one player picked up and used by his opponent — sometimes becoming a winning hand.

Sometimes we go looking in life for value and substance with a "mindset" or prejudice that results in our passing by the very opportunity we sought.

The Jews failed, at least from the Christian perspective, to recognize the very savior for whom they had waited so long.

A prospector panning for gold is required to have a trained and practiced eye, or the consequence is many nuggets of great value viewed and then thrown back.

Perhaps we consider too much in life as trivia. When the activities of others are constantly viewed as worthless, perhaps it is time to re-evaluate our own values and judgements. If "they" always win and "you" always lose, maybe "you" need to learn to appreciate those things you invariably cast off or out as of little or no value.

One who collects trivia may be judged to be engaged in a friendless pursuit. But consider what the originator of the multi-million dollar selling "Trivial Pursuit" game did with all the worthless information he accumulated. And after he did it, he laughed ... all the way to the bank.

Turning lemons into lemonade should be the quest of each of us. If more of us could do it, we'd all be happier ... and richer.

See you next week.

P.S.: Buster Keaton was the silent movie star who appeared in Beach Blanket Bingo ... Nancy Reagan was pregnant when she married Ronald ... and Mr. Ed was a Palomino.

In the line of duty

Anderson, the father of two pre-school age children, was the first Wayne officer to die in the line of duty since the department was organized. Fortunately, to date he remains the only Wayne policeman killed on the job.

Last year 118 police officers were killed across the country and 40,000 seriously injured. Three of the slain officers worked in Michigan.

Yesterday (May 15) officers throughout the nation honored these heroes on Police Memorial Day. In Wayne, officers wore a black mourning stripe and the flag at the police station was flown at half mast.

Throughout this week ceremonies will pay tribute to those who have died to help preserve the safety of our society. Every two days an officer dies and every six hours an officer is injured in this country, according to Gerald Arenberg, executive director of the American Police Hall of Fame and Museum in Florida.

As part of the observance of Police Memorial Day the names of the deceased officers were read at services conducted in the hall of fame and prayers were offered for their memory as well as for the safety of the 480,000 officers who patrol our streets today.

Serving as a police officer in 1984 continues to be one of the most difficult tasks in the so-called civilized world. An officer must be understanding yet firm, swift to action yet calculating, able to relate to young and old, black and white, rich and poor.

And to top it off, there's the daily risk of one's life that cannot be measured in terms of value to the safety of law abiding citizens. Television cops, ala T.J. Hooker, have their glamorous moments ... life on the streets of even a middle-class suburban town, however, offers little glamor to the protectors of the law.

When was the last time any of us took a minute to tell our local officers how much we appreciate their efforts? We are quick to criticize at times and much too slow to offer thanks.

It sometimes takes a gruesome headline to bring us back to reality.

Citizens concerned about negativism

To The Editor:

We, as citizens and taxpayers, are very concerned about the negativism that evolves around our school board meetings.

If you haven't had the opportunity to attend, don't worry, you didn't miss anything. The constant bickering and verbal abuse make up 95 percent of the agenda.

Mr. David Moranty and Mr. Fred Warmbier, what is your personal motivation and where is your stated commitment to education? You both, along with your supporters, constantly dwell upon the negative and it seems you invite turmoil within our district! How embarrassing it was for our students to attend a recent meeting and witness how many adults lacked self-control. What an example we adults set for our future leaders.

Wayne-Westland Adult-Community Education and all school personnel are to be commended for their efforts in educationally servicing all of its people regardless of their age or disability. We support your dedication and are confident that our district will overcome the cheap shots and negativism that a select few people throw your way.

We are aware that there is a small group of both past and present employees trying to undermine your entire adult education program. Could this be, in fact, a personal vendetta because their jobs were eliminated due to financial cutbacks?

To all of those negative people who use their energies to create problems, dissension, and turmoil: If you're not totally committed to education and your number one priority is not our students, then very simply — RESIGN!

The meaning of the poppy

To the Editor:

So many people do not know why-and the real meaning of The Poppy. I would like very much if you would put this in your paper.

I know it is quite long — but it has to be explained.

My late husband Albert H. Berger was 100 percent disabled from World War I and spent some years in government hospitals.

So I well know what the sale of Poppies mean to those who make them and where the money goes. Years ago I spent sometime out selling them.

Poppy days are May 17, 18 and 19.

The Meaning of the Poppy

In the year of 1918 spring came, just as it has come this year. The grass and trees put on their green, flowers pushed up their heads, and the world felt a rebirth of life and energy.

But that year spring had a different meaning. It meant that the vast armies, which had been facing each other in entrenched lines in France and Belgium would open great spring offensives. Instead of bringing renewed life, spring that year brought a renewal of wholesale death.

None of you can remember that horrible spring of 1918. Our newspapers told us the story of the terrible death and destruction, which daily took tremendous toll as the armies staggered back and forth across northern France in the great continuous battle that ended the war. Cable messages from France told us daily of a fresh list of American boys, who had given their lives.

Our soldiers, when they returned, did not like to talk about it. It was too terrible, ghastly and ugly. They wanted to forget. But there was one thing which the men who came back did talk about — one thing of beauty and tenderness which they like to remember. This was the poppy.

Poppies grew wild in France and Belgium, like daisies in this country. They continued to grow along the battlefield, when almost every other form of life was blasted away by the continual pounding of the massed cannon of both armies. They grew over the graves of the dead, the only floral tribute, which the gallant young men, who laid down life for country, received.

The poppies still grow about the graves of the American boys, who are buried in the war cemeteries in France, and each year, at the time of Memorial Day, paper replicas of the French poppies are worn in this country in memory of the dead.

Memories of the dead always bring thoughts of those men, who were not killed, but who came back wounded and returned to health. For many of them fate would of been kinder, if their lives had been taken outright. They were strong young fellows when they went out to fight for their country. When they came back, they were worn wrecks of men unable to do the work and play which made life worth while. More than 38,000 of them are still spending long, tedious days in government hospitals, struggling to recover their health or waiting for death to release them from their suffering.

For these men, too, the poppy has a meaning. They are the men who make the poppies. The work helps them endure the lonesome hospital hours, to care for their boys and girls. The dimes, quarters and dollars, which are dropped into the coin boxes on Poppy Day go to help these men and to help their families and the families of the dead. By buying and wearing a poppy we are honoring the war dead and at the same time serving the living victims of the war.

That little flower which pushed itself up so bravely amid the desolation of the battlefield in the spring of 1918 has thus become a means of reducing the suffering resulting from the war. Each year the women of the American Legion Auxiliary and VFW sell millions of poppies to the patriotic people of America to wear in honor of the dead, and every penny of the money received is expended for the welfare of the disabled and the families of the dead and disabled.

It is a wonderful thing that this simple little flower, which cheered the soldiers on in France, can bring so much cheer and happiness into the lives, which were blighted by the war.

When you see the poppy being worn this year remember what it means . . . a tribute to the memory of the dead and a service to the unfortunate living.

Hilda (Mrs. Albert) Berger

Hospital support

(Following is a letter sent to Wayne County Executive William Lucas regarding the proposed closing of Wayen County General Hospital.)

Dear Mr. Lucas:

Your Executive Order of May 1, 1984 ordered the closure of Wayne County General Hospital as of the end of this month.

In the last year, our surgeons saw 10,000 patients in clinic and did 1,543 operations for people without insurance. Who will care for these?

Our ophthalmologists follow 1,000 people with glaucoma and 500 people with diabetic retinopathy, two-thirds of whom have minimal or no insurance coverage. Who will care for these?

Our otologists did 60 head-neck operations for advanced cancer in adults and 240 operations to correct ear problems in children last year. Most of these have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our obstetricians now care for more than 1,100 expectant women. Many of these women have high risk pregnancies and many are young. 45 percent have no insurance and 50 percent have Medicaid which pays only one-fourth of the prevailing rate. There were also 8,500 outpatient gynecology visits. Most of these women have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our oral surgeon presently is following 51 patients for facial fractures; 35 of these patients were refused treatment at other hospitals (22 at Detroit Receiving Hospital) before coming to us. Who will care for these?

Our arthritis clinic sees 15-20 patients per week who have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our nuclear medicine team is following 47 patients for hyperthyroidism. Most have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our cardiologists are treating 700 people with coronary artery disease, heart failure, hypertension and 80 patients with pacemakers. Many of these people have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our internal medicine clinics care for 1,200 new patients per year. Most of these people have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our nephrologists now care for 49 hemodialysis patients. Only 28 of these could be accommodated by other dialysis units in the area. Most of those would have to go to Troy, a long distance for reliable transportation. Twenty-one patients would not be able to get hemodialysis in any way. Who would care for these?

Our diabetes clinic follows 1,000 people of whom 700 are dependent on insulin. Many have no insurance. Who would care for these?

Our G.I. service cares for many chronic alcoholics whose treatment is complex and costly. Most of these people have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our Child Development Clinic is the only facility of its kind in western Wayne County. There are 2,000 visits per year to this clinic by children with multiple handicaps such as mental retardation, cerebral palsy, seizure disorders, autism, emotional disorders, and other handicaps. Who will care for these?

Our pediatricians care for 500 children with sickle cell anemia, leukemia, seizure disorders and sick newborns referred from other hospitals. Many have no insurance. Who will care for these?

Our child counseling and adolescent health care services care for 600 young people with learning disorders, behavioral problems, anorexia, depression, substance abuse, suicidal behavior, pregnancy, and anxiety disorders. We do not ask first if they can pay. Who will care for these?

Wayne County General Hospital is the only hospital in southwest Michigan that continues to care for all people regardless of ability to pay.

You have talked to alternate hospitals which could give inpatient care to our indigent patients. Are you sure that physicians at these hospitals would be willing to take on the responsibility of caring for these poor people who could not pay? Hospitals cannot care for patients without physicians.

I have heard nothing about outpatient support at these alternate hospitals. Which hospital will care for our poor people on a continuing outpatient basis?

If Wayne County General Hospital closes, who will care for all of these?

Patients need care

To the Editor:

As a physician who has worked at Wayne County General Hospital for ten years, I find myself at a loss to understand the swirl of chaos which currently surrounds that institution. For those of us who care for the sick and the needy, the issues are not as simple as they seem to be for the politicians and the media. People who have pain, who have need of care, need of warmth, and need of knowing hands — they seem to be the only real concern.

The Editors and the TV commentators who speak to issues only of black and red ink don't spend time in the clinics. They don't see the old people, the young children, the pregnant women. They don't see the people who come from everywhere and sometimes from nowhere. They don't feel how it feels to say, "Yes, we will care for you. We will not send you away. This is the place from which no one is sent away for lack of position, or power, or folding money."

Those who sit in paneled offices don't see the questions in the eyes of a thousand pregnant women, or the old man with gnarled hands who comes weekly to the dialysis unit, or the tiny tiny premature who clings to life by small plastic tubes and the work of those who care for her.

From one side we hear angry voices who wonder loudly why the perinatal death rate is so high and from the other side the self-righteous voices of those who say that we may no longer provide the people in the community clinics the help to make that right. They say we cannot see the young women in Taylor, and Belleville, and Inkster. They say that they can be seen elsewhere when we are the only elsewhere for those who have no power, no say, no money.

All those who speak for forthrightly about the need to close a place which has served a need in the community for over 150 years might wonder where that need has suddenly gone. They might wonder too where they would go should they have need of a place from which no one says, "Go away."

Reeves post office?

To the Editor:

I've been reading your reports about the new Romulus Postal facility to be built on Hunt by Goddard. I had hoped construction would have started much sooner than now, but maybe it doesn't really matter. I thought Romulus was going to get a full service office again but now I'm not so sure.

I haven't seen any plans for the new office yet but in an earlier story you printed it was stated that the building would cover 3,000 sq. ft. If that figure is correct then I don't think our carriers and clerks will becoming back from the Taylor office.

Presently Romulus has 15 city carrier routes and 5 rural routes. When you throw in all the cases, tables, chairs, desks and other furniture that will be needed I don't think you can fit them in a 3,000 square-foot office.

I remember back in 1976 before Romulus was consolidated with the Taylor office that 2 buildings were needed to operate. The main office was on Shook and Bibbins where the normal business was transacted and the second building was on Hunt Street where the carriers and clerks worked.

I have never understood fully the way the Postal Service operates or who makes the big decisions about which offices to close or when new offices should be built. But if the decision has been made to build Romulus a new Post Office, then I think it should be a full service operation in a structure large enough to house all the Romulus postal employees under one roof.

The question is, does Romulus get a new small office or a new large office?

A 'unique' profession

To the Editor:

I would like to ask your help in promoting the annual Foster Parent Recognition Week, May 14th through the 21st. There are many foster parents within your circulation area.

Foster parenting is truly a "unique" profession. These people readily open their homes to children who, for whatever reason, cannot live with their own families. These children range in age from 0 to 18 years. They come from various cultures, backgrounds and situations; some are normal and healthy while others may have severe physical and/or mental handicaps. The only thing they have in common is a lack of a permanent and stable home life, but this is where foster parenting comes in.

Unselfishly, foster parents provide the loving care that is so vital to the future of these children. They accept full responsibility for 24 hours a day, seven days a week care, until the child is returned to the natural parents or adopted by new parents.

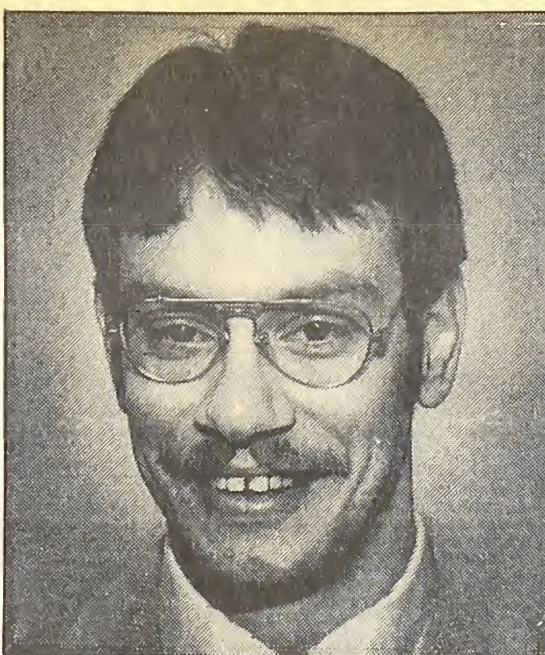

They do not receive payment for this service. They do it out of love for children. The minimal reimbursement received, in most cases, only partially covers the expenses incurred. More often than not, the foster parents use their own resources to provide whatever is necessary for the well being of the child in care.

There are over 7,000 foster parents in Michigan and Wayne County has over 1,500 caring for, at last count, over 3,500 children. If it were not for foster parents, these children would have no home life at all.

Pearlle Foster, 26, Detroit [Nursing]

"I'm a second-year student in Nursing and also the mother of five children. I value this program because it's meaningful and in-demand. Also by learning to help others, you learn to help and to know yourself. I made up my mind at WC3."

Charles Francis, 30, Westland [Computer - Data Processing]

"Once I complete my program in Computer and Data Processing I plan to transfer into a 4 - year program for a management degree. I decided on the CDP program here because of the facilities, the quality of instruction and the preparation for the future job market."

Majed Dababneh, 23, Detroit [Gerontology]

"I've been working and now I'm back in school. I like the idea of helping people, and the WCCC Gerontology classes show me an area of the Social Sciences I might like to major in. I'm really glad to be at 'WC3'!"

Josephine Marasovich, 59, Hamtramck [Culinary Arts]

"For me, WC3's Culinary Arts Program symbolizes a new direction for my career and for my life. I'm working hard, paying my own tuition, and I'm back in the mainstream of things. It's great!"

Family affair

Class deals with new arrivals

The impact of a new infant in the family will be explored through a series of cost-free classes on Sibling Preparation beginning next month at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn.

"Some children seem to readily adjust to a new brother or sister," said Dianna Hawrot, R.N., clinical director of Perinatal and Pediatric Nursing. "Most eventually will display signs that they feel left out and jealous of the new family member."

"The classes are designed to help brothers and sisters adjust to the new baby, while offering suggestions for parents so they may identify signs of rivalry and be able to deal with them."

Each Sibling Preparation class will be conducted by two registered nurses who are specially trained in this area. One nurse will assist parents, while the other will work with the children. In all, more than a dozen nurses from Oakwood's Maternal and Child Health Care Center will participate.

Parents will learn how to deal with sibling rivalry in relation to child behavior and, based on the different ages of children, what parents can expect from various age groups. A movie, "I'm a Little Jealous of That Baby," also will be presented.

Through the movie, practical demonstrations and even some storytelling, the youngsters will learn about infant behavior and how to help their parents in caring for the baby, among other areas.

"We will teach the children how to identify their own feelings on the new arrival, reassure them that mommy and daddy still love them despite their new brother or sister taking up additional time, and tell them they are special because they are now a big brother or a big sister," Hawrot explained.

Children eight and above will also have an opportunity to hold, diaper and feed the baby by practicing on a doll. In addition, children in both age groups will receive a certificate upon completing the class.

As part of the classes, parents and children will have an opportunity to tour the labor and delivery and nursery areas. Photos of siblings will be attached to cribs in the nursery area so siblings can readily identify their new brother or sister.

"We wanted to provide another service to the community to help further our family-oriented philosophy toward helping all family members to adjust to a new arrival," Hawrot said on the new classes. As planned, the Sibling Preparation classes will be offered every other week with the next series scheduled for May 18, for parents and children eight and over and May 20, for parents and children seven and under and for parents and children of all ages.

Other classes planned include infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation classes for parents, prenatal exercise classes and a caesarean section class, all of which are scheduled for either the summer or fall.

All parents and children are welcome to attend the Sibling Preparation classes. For further information, and to register, call 593-7533.

Computer-wise

Bilmar's Supermarket and the Merriman School PTA recently collaborated in supplying the students at the school with an Atari 1200 XL computer with built-in "basic" language. Bilmar's earned the computer as part of a sales promotion. It was presented to the school by Bill Simonds, the owner of Bilmar's. The PTA did their part by purchasing a television to be used as a monitor for the computer. According to teachers at Merriman School, the computer is used daily by students in the lower elementary grades. The children have been saving soup labels for the recorder and the software which will be used with the computer. Showing off the computer and monitor are (back row, from left) Catherine Simonds, Bill Simonds, Rosalie Berlinn, president of the PTA, and first grade teacher Joan Omarzu, with students (from left) Stephanie Vit, Foster Brown, Patricia McKeenan, Teri Prause and Bobby Parker, all age six.

Sumpter awaits post office

Sumpter Township residents should know shortly where their new post office will be located.

Sumpter Supervisor Jim Reeves said he is meeting this week with postal officials to investigate putting the mini-station in the Sumpter Township Hall at 23480 Sumpter Road.

Sumpter officials originally planned on putting the station in the old Township Hall, just across the road from the new building.

When Township residents protested the location at a board meeting, officials agreed to explore using the newer building.

Reeves said his preference is for the old Township Hall currently being renovated into offices for the Sumpter Police and the director of the Sumpter Seniors.

"This will mean a lot of traffic in the (new) township hall," he said.

Reeves added that township trustees would settle the question at a meeting in the next few weeks.

Residents have complained that the old building is off the main track and too small. A few have said they don't want to share quarters with the Sumpter Police.

The mini-post station will consist primarily of postal boxes and stamp machines. Counter service will not be offered, at least in the early months, according to Reeves.

The postal boxes should arrive within 90 days, say Sumpter officials.

50 YEARS OF SERVICE

GM has an idea that may save your life.

Or pay $10,000.

Seat belts help save lives and reduce injuries.

Yet seat belt usage is only about 15 percent.

General Motors thinks this too often results in tragedy. We want to do something to encourage more people to wear their seat belts.

This may help.

Effective April 16, 1984, every new GM car and light truck delivered by a GM dealer in the United States comes with a one-year insurance certificate from MIC General Insurance Corporation, the insurance people from GM.

The certificate will be provided without additional charge, and every occupant wearing a seat belt in these cars and trucks will be covered by this protection. $10,000 will be paid to the estate of any occupant who suffers fatal injuries while wearing a GM seat belt.

Now there is even more reason to buckle up.

My son,
my son

TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

In one of the niches of my desk I came upon the following tribute penned by George Gillies, Westland resident, to his son. It is "a special salute to Rick Gillies, his teammates and his coaches at John Glenn."

I found it interesting. I hope that you do, too.

The ultimate for any athlete of any age is to win or to be a winner. Perhaps it's understandable that failure should be greeted with such disrespect in a culture where winning is so constantly applauded. Progress, good fortune, success, victory. These are all human goals most of us prize, but we sometimes lose track of the dynamics which bring them about.

If we give success more respect than the attempt, we are being shortsighted and hobbling ourselves with the prospect of failure. This thwarts the rising momentum of a "Go for it" attitude and develops a hesitation to invest ourselves fully.

As a result we put out less effort, meet fewer challenges, achieve fewer dreams and overcome fewer everyday obstacles. We may say we like the idea of success, but it's the fear of failure that holds our attention, even lasting a life time with some individuals. What is sad is some people don't understand the difference between winning and losing.

As a father I recently had an opportunity to witness victory snatched from the proverbial jaws of defeat, and defeat snatched from the jaws of victory.

I spent a weekend at the State Wrestling Championships in Lansing, hosted by Lansing Eastern Michigan High School. The final 208 wrestlers represented over 12,000 high school wrestlers who had competed in the district and regional competitions. All of those athletes are winners. Win or lose, they have set goals for themselves and are willing to sacrifice to reach them.

A personal thrill was watching my 17-year-old son compete in something that he really enjoys and believes in. Especially knowing this was his final chance at a state championship, something he has strived toward since attending Stevenson Junior High School in the Wayne-Westland Community School District.

As a father I would like to take this opportunity to salute my son, Rick. He is an outstanding person and he is instilled with desire, dedication, and compassion to work toward his goals. He could have quit because of a badly bruised chest and his left elbow was so badly swollen he couldn't make a fist and he wrestled his final match. . . with one arm badly injured. He might have lost his final contest as a high school wrestler, but in my eyes he came out as a real winner.

To his coaches, Tom Buckalew and his assistant, Bob Eisiminger, congratulations. I know that I speak for all of the parents whose kids you have coached - you have done a terrific job.

To John Glenn's administrators, your professionalism and support of the wrestling program and in programs, in general, was well exhibited. And I know that the coaches appreciated it.

I watched as young athletes

Barks quells Belleville's hopes for Little Caesar title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It took some tough relief pitching by Tony Yandura and Jeff Barks, who faced a bases-loaded situation in the bottom of the seventh, for Romulus to pull out a cliffhanging 6-5 decision over Belleville at the second annual Little Caesar's Invitational Tournament on Saturday.

Barks moved into the thick of the action after Belleville threatened to tie the game. With two Tigers aboard and one away, Barks intentionally walked Lee Cooper to load the bases in that final inning. Then, he got pinch-hitter Kevin Keeney to pop up for the second out and fanned Eric Wegerbauer for the game-ending out.

"Winning didn't come easy," noted Romulus coach Dennis Stoh. "This game (with Belleville) went right down to the last out. To our credit, the kids hung in there and won it."

Belleville Coach Tom Fielder was "disappointed that we lost."

"Again it was our defense that did it to us," Fielder said. "We committed seven errors. You can't win many ball games like that."

Romulus advanced to the championship round by eliminating New Boston Huron, the defending champ, 8-4, while Belleville made it to the showdown by stopping Ypsilanti Lincoln, 5-3.

Coach Stoh started Rich Dybicki on the mound and Fielder chose Bob Tansey for the championship round. Tansey went the distance, struck out six and walked two in pitching an eight-hitter, while Dybicki got credit for the victory but was not around at the end. He notched five strikeouts before Yandura took over and worked 1 1/2 innings then gave way to Barks.

Belleville went ahead 1-0 in the second as Dennis Montie was safe on an error, moved to third on subsequent miscues and scored when Glen Arquette successfully executed the squeeze play.

Romulus answered with six runs in the top of the fourth, cashing in on a couple of errors. Rex Boatright ignited the Eagle rally as he doubled and scored when Dybicki singled. Dave Blevins also singled, putting runners on first and third. A double steal, the first of two in that inning, scored the second run and a groundout helped bring in the third tally. A fly ball dropped by the outfielder, a double off the bat of Dave Bergman, a hits batsman and Steve Thornberry's base hit accounted for the rest of the Eagle runs.

Belleville made Romulus sweat as singles by Tansey and Arquette, plus a two-out double by Wegernauer scored

Belleville breezes to Hidenfelter relays championship

Belleville thinclads led "from start to finish" to unseat defending champ Livonia Churchill at the 26th annual Harry Hidenfelter Relays staged Friday at Belleville High.

Garnering 99 team points and sweeping six of the 13 events, Coach David Medley's Tigers dominated the relays before the home crowd.

"We led 37-30 after the field events and captured four of the six running events and just missed picking up a fifth relay when Trenton nosed us out in the 880-yard relay," Medley noted. "Our kids did an exceptional job. It was a complete team effort."

Belleville will join a host of area high school teams on Saturday to compete for regional titles. The Tigers also disposed of Fordson 75-62 to remain undefeated (5-0) in the Wolverine A Conference. The unbeaten Belleville runners will be shooting for the inaugural conference championship next Wednesday at Wyandotte.

Concordia gets Hartnett

Concordia College picked up its second All-Area cager within a span of a week as Plymouth Salem's Erich Hartnett signed a letter of intent to attend the college in the fall.

Hartnett, a 6-3, 180-pound guard who guided Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks (21-4) to a Class A District Championship and to the regional finals before being eliminated by a strong Detroit Southwestern High quintet, averaged 12 points per game, eight rebounds and five assists.

"In my opinion," said Richard Zalenski, assistant basketball coach at Concordia, "Erich is one of the finest ball players produced in the suburban area. He fits right into our strategy and we eagerly look forward to having him in our line-up."

Truman clips Eagles

"We beat ourselves by booting the ball all over the place."

That's how Romulus Coach Fred Coleman assessed his softballers' first defeat in the newly-organized Metro-West Conference. The historic loss was handed to Romulus by Taylor Truman which capitalized on 12 costly Romulus miscues to win a 16-8 decision and salvage the second game of a doubleheader against the powerful Eagles.

The Eagles, behind Rocky

Patterson's two-hitter, subdued Truman in the opener, 3-0, as the Romulus hurler struck out seven and walked one. The Eagles staked Patterson to two runs in the second inning as Dawn Proost singled, stole

A talk with Dwight Lowry

The Detroit Tigers have gotten off to the best start of any team in Major League Baseball history. And there have been several surprises. One has been Rookie Catcher Dwight Lowry, who surprised just about everybody by making the team. Lowry has started four games and appeared in several others when the Tigers have had big leads. Dwight has impressed people with his strong and accurate arm and his ability to dig the balls out of the dirt. The 6 foot, 4½ inch, 210-pound Lowry is also very mobile behind the plate. At the plate, he has shown he can handle Major League pitching. Who is Dwight Lowry and how did he get here? Lowry was born and raised in North Carolina and he attended the University of North Carolina where he was drafted by the Tigers in the 11th round in the June 1980 draft. Lowry, who is 26, spent four years in the Minor Leagues, all as backup catcher and has never even played Triple A. However, he went to the Florida instructional league last winter where he impressed the Tiger brass and was placed on the 40 man roster. The other day I talked to Lowry and here's how the conversation went.

ME — Are you surprised that you're in the Major Leagues?
LOWRY — Never in my wildest dreams did I expect to be here this season. I was surprised that I was even put on the 40 man roster before spring training and to be one of the 25 to make this team is unbelievable.
ME — When did you really think that "hey, I'm going to make this team?"
LOWRY — Never. Not until Sparky Anderson came to me at the end of Spring Training and told me. Before he was traded John Wockenfuss told me that if he was traded that I had a good chance to make the Tigers, but I really didn't think I would.
ME — Are you surprised that you're playing so much early in the season?
LOWRY — Yes. I couldn't believe it when Sparky came up to me in the Minnesota game on opening day and told me I was going in in the 7th inning. I got my feet wet in that game and it helped me a lot. Then when I started a game I was more relaxed.
ME — Being a rookie are you allowed to call the pitches?
LOWRY — Despite what most people think, I do call most of the pitches. We have some veteran pitchers on this team and they know what they want to throw. I just suggest what pitches, but they don't shake me off much.
ME — Who's the toughest pitcher on the staff to catch?
LOWRY — Without question, Dan Petry. His ball moves a lot and he's got a mean slider that breaks down and away.
ME — Who's the easiest to catch?

LOWRY — Glenn Abbott. He puts the ball right where you want him to. Also, Dave Rozema. He also has good control.
ME — Describe yourself as a catcher.
LOWRY — I think I have quick and soft hands which helps me catch the ball. I also think I give a good target which helps the umpire get a good look at the pitch. I also feel I have a good arm, plus I dig balls out of the dirt well and, that keeps the runners from advancing.
ME — What about yourself as a hitter.
LOWRY — I have to improve as a power-hitter because of my size. I should be able to hit more home runs. When you play once every six games or so it's tough to get in a groove. You have to concentrate on just making contact. If you play every day you can experiment some.
ME — Why do you think Sparky likes you so much?
LOWRY — I think I have the right attitude for my job. Also, I think Sparky likes the way I call a game and keep balls in front of me and throw runners out.
ME — What about other players' attitude? Are the Tiger players as close as we are led to believe?
LOWRY — Yes. It's amazing. No matter how much money each player is making he doesn't put himself ahead of the team. Sparky said he wants players with good attitudes and he's got that here. The players pull for each other.

Romulus softballers suffer 1st setback

(Continued from Page B-1) second and moved to third on Kelly Knight's fielder's choice. Knight also was safe when the first baseman dropped the ball. Then, Laura Wiltzie walked, loading the bases. Patterson's bunt single drove in the first run and a passed ball produced the second run. Truman came back with vengeance in the nightcap, scoring six times in the second and cashing in on six errors and a triple for seven runs in the fifth for the victory. Kim Doss was charged with the loss while Deanna Pochmara, who collected two singles and Lori King, who also chipped in two hits in four at-bats, were the Eagles' key performers at the plate. Romulus and Coleman will launch their bid for a Class A District title on May 25 when Wyandotte pays the Eagles a visit. The survivor will advance to the semi-final round at Plymouth Salem. King fanned three, walked three and scattered two hits as Romulus shut out Ladywood 8-0 earlier in the week. Laura Wiltzie knocked in three runs with two hits for the winners. The Eagles, 22-7 on the season and 7-1 in the conference, swept two from league rival, Taylor Center, winning the opener 10-4 and the nightcap 5-4. Patterson was the winner in the first game as she notched four strikeouts and walked two in a 4-hitter. The Eagles struck for five runs in the fifth to pave the way to the victory. Kim Doss, who had a perfect 4 for 4, doubled and had three singles and four RBI's in the triumph. Deanna Pochmara had two for four and 2 RBIs. Three consecutive singles in the bottom of the seventh by Patterson, Doss and Kris Bair lifted Romulus to a 5-4 victory over the Rams in the nightcap. Bair laced three hits in four appearances at the plate. Her game winning single came in the bottom of the seventh.

Rockets are off title target in Northwest

John Steinbeck once wrote, "The best-laid plans of mice and men often go awry."

So, too, did the plans of the Rockets of Westland John Glenn go awry this past week as the Westland "9" suffered three crucial losses that knocked them from first place in the Northwest Suburban League.

Coach Norm Hoenes, who has seen many league races in his 19 years as head coach at Glenn, feels "that this is one of the toughest league races we have ever had. The way that everybody is bunched, four losses could win it. But our backs are to the wall and we need all three games next week."

The first two of these three losses occurred last Tuesday in a double-header against long time rival Livonia Franklin, 8-5 and 5-4.

Franklin grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the first game but the Rockets, fresh off a week in which they scored 90 runs, came up with three runs to take a 3-2 lead. Cass Simpson walked, moved to third on an error on a grounder by Bruce Billings and both runners scored on a single by Glenn Belcher.

Glenn made it 4-2 in the third on singles by Billings and Martin. With sophomore Steve Irwin on the mound, the Rockets appeared on their way.

Or so they thought. Franklin erupted for four runs in the fifth as Merlino doubled to open the inning, Dave DeMay singled him home and scored on a wild pitch. A sacrifice fly by Kurek produced the third run, and the fourth tally scored on a single by pitcher Jeff Malek.

Malek allowed 11 hits to the Rockets but got tough when he had to in the latter three innings and closed out the victory.

The Rockets faced another tough pitcher in the second game in Jeff Raylean, as the Patriot hurler racked up 12 strikeouts and thwarted the Rockets on only five hits.

Franklin took an early 4-0 lead in the first inning, but the Rockets don't die easily. Jason McKarge tripled with two out in the second and scored on a wild pitch.

The Rockets' ace hurler, Donn Wolfe, kept his team in the game until they could erupt in the final stanza for three runs. McKarge walked, moved to third on a single by Dave Jensen, and scored on a wild pitch. A walk and two outs later, Billings bounced a single to left for two runs. But Raylean was equal to the task and prevented the tying run from scoring for the 5-4 win.

On Friday, Glenn traveled to Redford Union, needing a win to get themselves back in the league race. RU took an early 3-0 lead, but the rockets' penchant for never giving up showed through in the sixth inning.

Dave Briski singled, Billings walked, Belcher drove home a run with a single and then Martin drove in two with a ringing double to left center to tie the game.

Romulus wins Little Caesar's crown

two runs in the fourth. In the seventh, the Tigers loaded the bases as Sprau led off with a single, Riling also singled and when Tansey was safe on an error, loading the bases. Yandura was in trouble. He then gave up a run-scoring single to Montie, forcing a pitching change.

Barks came in and did his thing to preserve the victory.

"We tried to club people to death. You can't do that. You have to play defense and we dropped two fly balls," Fielder said.

Belleville knocked off Lincoln 5-3 as Keith Barnett fanned eight and walked one for the victory.

Loser Tony Tolbert gave up 10 hits and whiffed four. The Tigers got to Tolbert for three runs in the first inning as Randy Lemasters singled, stole second and eventually scored on an error. Keith Riling also got aboard on an error and scored on a two-out single by Dennis Montie. Mike Sprau's base hit drove him home.

In the third, the Tigers put the winning runs on the board thanks to a double by Lemasters and a two-out single by Sprau and a single by Tansey.

Barnett, a freshman, looked good in his first start of the campaign.

the Tigers also whipped Monroe 7-1 to even up their Wolverine A Conference record at 3-3. The Tigers will host Ann Arbor Huron at 4 p.m. on Friday for a pre-district test.

Dave Blevins struck out eight, walked four and scattered eight hits as Romulus subdued Huron 8-4 in the preliminary game. Loser Les Harris lasted 4 1/2 innings before giving way to Tom Richardson.

The Eagles broke the game open in the bottom of the fifth as Bob Sloan singled, was sacrificed to second by Sean Vernatt, then a two-out double by Bergman and Steve Thornsberry's base hit gave the winners a 3-run cushion.

Joe Atherton hammered a two-run homer with Terry McIntosh aboard to give the Eagles a pair of insurance runs.

Truman dimmed Romulus' hopes of a Metro-West Conference title as the Eagles swept a pair, 9-8, 11-4 from the Eagles. Romulus also dropped a doubleheader to Taylor Center, 11-2, and 2-0. They'll play a doubleheader with Oak Park at Romulus on Wednesday and will have another shot at Truman on Thursday at Romulus.

Northville clashes with Romulus on May 25 at 2 p.m. to determine representation at the Plymouth Salem district championship.

walked on to the mats and came off as young men. I wish every parent could be with their kids at such an important time of their life.

And, may I conclude with this

"Here's to the winners,
Lift up the glasses;
Here's to the glory still to be.
Here's to the battle,
Whatever it's for,
To ask the best of ourselves
Then give much more.
Here's to the heroes,
Those who move mountains;
Here's to the miracles
They make us see
Here's to all brothers
Here's to all people,

★ POSTAL EXAM WORKSHOP ★

(Clerk-Carrier) Starting Pay: $10.56/hour

The Detroit SCF Area Post Offices, including Wayne, Inkster, Belleville and others with 481-482 zip codes, have indicated that they will be accepting applications soon after June 1st. NOW is the time to prepare. The pressure is on to score as high as possible to get the job. Career Postal Clerks and Carriers make $25,000 a year to start, including benefits; men and women, regardless of age or experience, are eligible. The first step toward a postal service career is getting your name onto the "Register of Eligibles," which is accomplished by passing this Exam (which will probably not be given again for at least three years). To be one of the first hired, you need to get one of the higher scores! And to be hired at all during the next three years, you will need to score at least 95%!

4-HOUR WORKSHOP

Score 95-100% or Your Tuition is Refunded!

It is possible to get a very high score with adequate preparation. From years of experience and discussions with our Advisory Board (consisting of former postmasters, training managers and examiners), we know that it takes exactly four hours to teach you everything you need to know to score 95% or better — which is what you'll need to get a job.

Benefits derived from this course extend far beyond the postal exam. The skills and attitudes will help in every area of future learning and test-taking. We have helped thousands of people successfully prepare for the Clerk-Carrier Exam. But don't take our word for it, take our guarantee! Come to the workshop. If you don't feel, at the end of the course, that it will help you achieve a score of 95% or better, don't pay for the workshop! Furthermore, if your score is less than 95% on the official exam after using our techniques, we will immediately refund your tuition in full!

- ★ You are invited to bring your tape recorder to record the workshop for personal exam review.
- ★ You may attend as many extra sessions of the workshop as you like (on a space available basis) without additional tuition charge.

WORKSHOP TUITION — $35 (Includes guaranteed 4-hour Workshop, The Corey Guide to Postal Exams, Sample Exam with Answers, Workshop Workbook, POSTAL EXAM ALERT WITH SIGN-UP DATES MAILED TO YOUR HOME, and Take-Home Practice Kit containing: Practice Exams with Answers, Flash Cards, and "Simulated Exam" on cassette tape.) Please bring two No. 2 pencils with you to the Workshop.

Seating is limited; pre-registration by phone is advised. Otherwise, you may register by arriving thirty minutes early. Tuition is payable at the door by cash, check, money order, MasterCard, VISA or American Express.

With one out, Bill Perdue laced a double down the leftfield line and Glenn took a 4-3 lead.

Unfortunately for the Rockets and Jeff Nieman, who pitched a strong game, RU came back with three runs of their own. With one out, Keith Williams tripled and scored on another three-bagger by Kevin Moore. Mike Don broke the 4-4 tie on a single and scored later in the inning for the final 6-4 margin.

The Rockets have their work cut out for them, with a doubleheader against Garden City and a single game against league leader Thurston.

This week wasn't a complete washout, however, as the Rockets defeated Ann Arbor Pioneer, 9-7, with a six-run rally in the fourth inning that was keyed by the hitting of Briski and Belcher. Dave Jensen got the win, with last-inning help from Briski.

On Saturday, Glenn walloped Temperance-Bedford, 11-4 and 15-0, as nearly every batter had at least one hit. Martin went 4-for-5 in the first game, producing two RBI on a booming triple. Perdue got the first game victory with a route-going performance.

In the second game, Irwin, Briski, and Wolfe combined to shutout the Mules on two hits for the team's first whitewash of the season. Briski also homered in the contest.

The Rockets are now 12-5, 3-4 in the league.

Monkees still swingin'

THE MONKEES
"Monkee Flips"
(Rhino)

Here we come
Walkin' down the street
We get the funniest looks from Everyone we meet.

They got funny looks alright. They also got tons of money. But one thing the Monkees never did get that they really deserved was respect. Rodney Dangerfield would be proud.

Strangely enough though, the Monkees have come into their own in the '80s. Fan clubs flourish, LP's sell for fantastic sums of money to collectors, and 'oldie' radio stations take them seriously.

Rumors that the band members didn't even play their own instruments hurt them (which wasn't true), as did their self-defined teeny-bopper images.

But anyone who has ever seen the TV episode with Mike Nesmith interviewing Frank Zappa, then the two switching identities (moustache, beard, hat) as it went on, know that hey, these guys weren't just for kiddies after all.

Neither was (or, for that matter, is) their music: pop ditties designed to hook the listener in, take them for a three-minute ride, then gently let them off. Nothing wrong with that, especially if you still hum the tune when you're off.

There are no "big name" hits on this collection, although there are plenty of the aforementioned three-minute rides. Songs are collected from the band's albums, such as Nesmith's "You Told Me" from the "Headquarters LP and Mickey Dolenz' "Little Girl," which was culled from "The Monkees Present" album.

Also, a number of singles are present, best among them "Oh My My" and Nesmith's "Good Clean Fun," which sort of describes the Monkees' popular image. In fact, though, it was the Monkees who provided the financial backing for the anti-establishment film "Easy Rider," and anyone who has experienced their film "Head," starring Jack Nicholson, knows that these supposedly squeaky clean boys dabbled more than a bit in the psychedelics of the era.

Subtitled "14 Swinging Songs," the album pretty much describes itself. Great for parties and ideal for get-togethers, just like they say on the late-night television ads from Atlanta!

ELVIS COSTELLO
"Peace In Our Time"/"Wither and Die"
(Import 45 as the Imposter)

Elvis previewed this composition on his recent solo tour, but it didn't pack the punch this preview from his forthcoming "Goodbye Cruel World" LP does on vinyl. It's a political tune capturing some of Costello's best wit, aimed at subjects like Reagan, Grenada, Reagan, John Glenn and Reagan.

"They're lighting a bonfire upon every hilltop in the land/Just another tiny island invaded when he's got the whole world in his hands." And the Presidents remarks about the MS Missile and "Star Wars" didn't go unnoticed either, as Costello delightfully croons "There's already one spaceman in the White House, what you want another one for?"

If the rest of the LP is up to the standards of "Peace In Our Time," it will undoubtedly be his best work to date. And THAT is saying something.

The flip of this import single is Costello's rendition of Richard Thompson's heart-wrenching "Wither and Die," and probably won't show up on the album.

Dialogue carries British comedy

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

Never refer to an ex-lover as "dad." And certainly don't pass off his wife as "mom," unless one's sense of adventure or humor is beyond the ordinary.

Alan Ayckbourn's "Relatively Speaking" fortunately rates as both adventuresome and humorous. This British comedy, featured at the Komedya Players Dinner Theatre, makes the most of mistaken identities.

"Relatively Speaking" comes alive through witty dialogue, solid acting and an unmistakably British look at a confusing state of affairs. Act One begins slowly as Ginny (Liz Zweifler) and Greg (Danny Hicks) set the stage for what promises to be hilarious confrontation with Ginny's "parents," Sheila (Jan Salisbury) and Philip (Ralph Rosati).

Act Two delivers on the promise through a series of conversations that keep the audience laughing and anticipating the next scene. Ayckbourn plays on human nature for much of his comedy; the joke's on Greg and Sheila and the audience can empathize with the reality of deception. Phillip and Ginny, on the other hand, must wiggle out of trouble and that too prompts laughter from anyone who has ever had to cover up a lie, be it "White" or otherwise.

Greg's character offers the most potential for an actor and Hicks delivers on that potential with a strong performance. His initial meeting with his girlfriend's "father" clearly is a highlight of this show.

Salisbury and Rosati are stage professionals who appear comfortable in a variety of roles, even when a British accent is required. Zweifler gives a creditable performance as the naughty Ginny.

Theatre buffs and newcomers will appreciate the near flawless handling of the dialogue and the precision of the punch line deliveries for maximum impact.

"Relatively Speaking" revolves around the dialogue; those expecting lavish settings and props will be disappointed. Those looking for an evening of quality comedy will be pleased.

The play will be performed on Friday and Saturday evenings through June 30 at the theatre, located in the Allen Park Motor Lodge, 14886 Southfield Road, between the I-94 and I-75 expressways. Dinner, which includes a choice of prime rib or veal, is served at 7 p.m.

Tickets for the dinner theatre program, priced at $15.95 each, may be reserved by calling 386-1300 or 661-1383.

soon to wed

Barr - Bower

Suzanne Barr — Dana Bower

the wedding bells will be ringing May 19 for Suzanne Barr of Westland and her fiancé Dana Bower, also of Westland.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Joseph and Patricia Barr of Westland. She currently is employed at the Westland Convalescent Center and plans on graduating as a registered nurse.

Her fiancé is the son of Harold and Joan Bower of Westland. A graduate of John Glenn High School, he is employed as a welder at Draw-Tite Inc.

Ship ahoy

Port calls in San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and San Maarten, Dutch West Indies, were a part of seven-day cruise of the Caribbean for Mr. and Mrs. Greg Salley of Belleville recently. The Salleys traveled aboard the SS Oceanic of the Homes Line, which departed from Port Everglades, Fla.

Trosin - Williams

Margaret Trosin — Bradley Williams

Margaret Trosin and Bradley Williams are preparing for a May 19 wedding, following the recent announcement of their engagement by their parents, Richard Trosin of Romulus, Shirley Trosin of Trenton and Donald and Luana Williams of Ann Arbor.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Lincoln High School in Ypsilanti and is presently employed at the Westside Elias Brother's Restaurant in Ypsilanti.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor and is attending Washtenaw Community College. He is employed as a mechanic by Sears & Roebuck.

Sullivan - Plizga

A July 14 wedding is in the offing for Patricia K. Sullivan of St. Clair and James J. Plizga of Marysville.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Thomas and Gertrude Sullivan of Wallace Street, Westland. Her fiancé is the son of Joseph and Irene Plizga of St. Clair.

Miss Sullivan is a 1972 graduate of Wayne and a 1976 graduate of Central Michigan University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in education. She also holds a master of arts degree in consumer affairs from Wayne

State University.

She is employed by the East China Schools as a teacher of consumer education and law at St. Clair High School and is president of the East China Education Association.

Her fiancé is a 1972 graduate of St. Clair High School and a 1976 graduate of Central Michigan University, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

He currently is employed as an accountant with the American Tape Company in Marysville.

McGuire's first: It's a boy

It's a boy, according to Kenneth and Maria McGuire, former Westland residents now living at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Their first child, Christopher James made his "debut" at 11:45 p.m. April 24, weighing 7 pounds, 5 ounces, and measuring 21 inches in length.

He's the newest grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheldon of Wayne, James McGuire of Garden

City and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Iminski of Westland, and the newest great-grandson of Mrs. Bernice Swathell of Atlanta, Mich., formerly of Westland and Mrs. Barbara McGuire of Westland.

Drinking and driving

Those who know tell why it doesn't pay

By ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

"I could be the next victim of a drunk driving accident." If you make that statement, and believe it, it could help save your life. The trouble is, most people don't believe it.

Brian Moore, now 23, didn't believe it until a drunk driving accident left him with permanent brain and nerve damage.

Moore, who once dreamed of writing stories for a living, now has difficulty remembering, speaking, and must move with the aid of a walker.

"I used to write all the time. Now I can't remember ideas or think of what to write," Moore told hundreds of high school students who gathered last week at es and a separated shoulder, got off easier.

Still, Moore describes himself as "lucky."

"I'm alive, and I just want to get out and warn you," Moore told the students. "Don't do any of this drinking and driving. It's just no good."

The students listened. That's because they generally do listen to their friends, their peers, their leaders at school, MADD recording Secretary Sue Landes explained.

"This is the only thing that's going to work," Landes said. Even at this age, kids are still being molded. They're still following the leader. I'd like to see kids feel free enough to say to each other, 'Look, I came to this party with you, but you've had against anyone having a good time. But if you want to get smashed, just let someone else drive."

Landes and husband Lee, state chairman of Wayne County MADD, became involved in the effort the same way MADD founder Candy Lightner did — they lost a son to a drunk driving accident.

"Our Son George was 26 and an innocent victim when he was killed by a drunk driver in October 11, 1981," Landes said.

"He and his fiancée were driving home when his car was hit broadside at Ford Road and Telegraph by someone who was drinking, smoking pot and driving 90 miles per hour. That's what got us into this game."

Austin said. "Peer pressure can work for you. You are influential in your own circles."

In an effort to swing peer pressure in a positive direction, celebrating students this year are asked to appoint a "designated driver" in each partying group and to sign "contracts between friends."

"We agree to call each other for advice and/or transportation at any hour, from any place, if either of us is in a position where we have had too much to drink or a friend or date who is driving either of us has had too much to drink," the contracts, a part of Project Graduation, state.

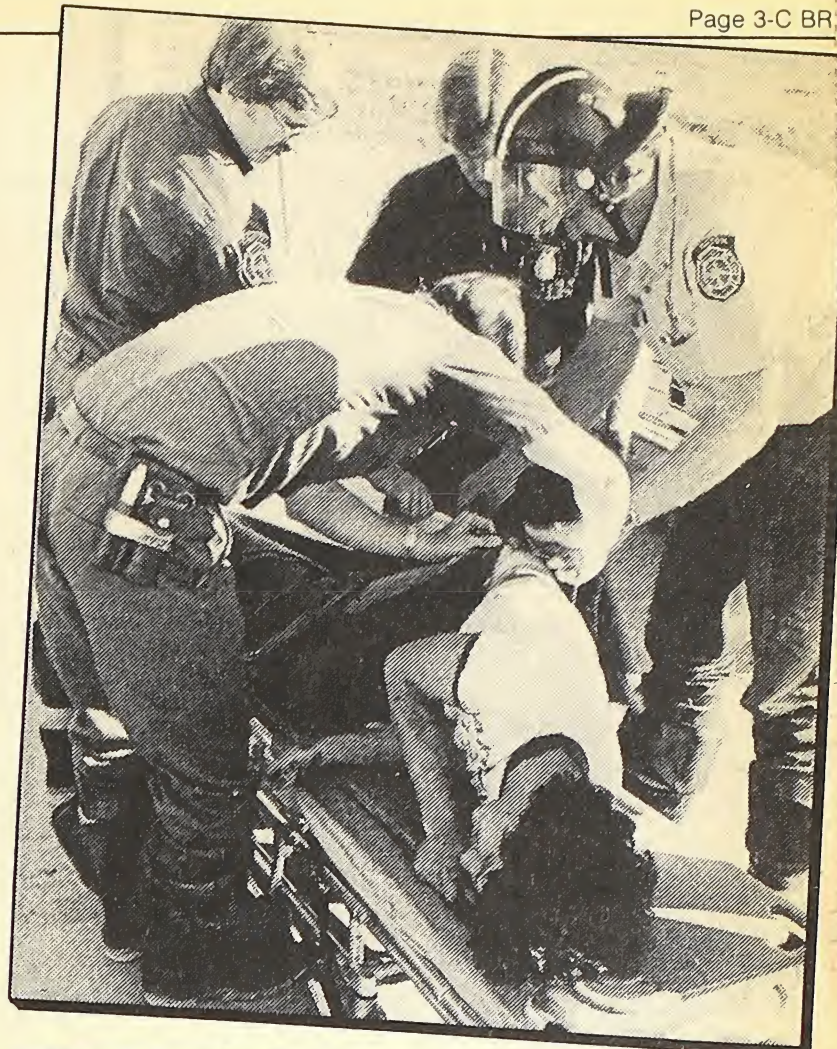

"If called, we agree to come and get each other at any hour, any place, no questions asked and no argument, or to pay for a taxi or take the responsibility to provide other safe transportation home."

Many parents are signing similar contracts with their teens and are also agreeing to "Pledges for Life," in which they promise to prevent alcohol to minors at house parties and provide supervision and safe transportation home to those who have had too much to drink.

Clothing rentals and florists are lending their support by tucking "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk" cards in tuxedo pockets and corsages.

"We don't expect our friends to stop drinking. That's just not realistic," said one high school senior who attended the seminar.

"We know kids drink. Some of us drink ourselves. What's hard for some people to understand is that we're not against drinking. Whatever you get into, that's cool. It's simple. Just don't kill anyone while you're at it — just don't drink and drive."

a Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) seminar.

Moore was 17 and drunk when he drove himself and two friends through a guard rail in Brighton six years ago.

"I was usually a pretty cautious driver," he recalled. "But, like everyone else, when I was drunk I drove like a madman."

"I just had too damn much to drink at one time that day, let alone drive."

After surviving a six-month coma, Moore literally had to learn to talk and eat again.

Friends Andy and Tom, who escaped the accident with stitch-too much to drink and I'm not going home with you. I'm not putting my life in your hands."

Moore's accident occurred over memorial Day weekend, a holiday with a traditionally deadly drinking and driving toll.

Another of these, unfortunately is graduation.

"Project Graduation '84" is a plan sponsored by MADD and rapidly gaining support with local parents, students, schools and businesses who are tired of seeing too many kids not survive their graduation.

"We're not against drinking," Landes stressed. "We're not

Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin reported that drivers under 21 account for only one-fifth of the driving population, but are involved in nearly one-third of all accidents.

"Many young people spend more time in an a car than they do at home," Austin said. "The teen society structure places a great emphasis on cars, where they can experience a power they seldom feel in other areas of life."

"Teens involved in an effort to help their classmates celebrate safely are to be commended,"

Family life seminar

Dr. Duane Cuthbertson will be the featured speaker at a family life seminar to be presented at the Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville from Sunday through Wednesday. Meetings are scheduled at 10 a.m., 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday and at 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

Cuthbertson, an ordained minister and manager of radio station WYFC, serves as executive director of Growing Together Ministries. An outstanding lecturer and seminar leader, Cuthbertson has had the opportunity to lead the Detroit Lions, Detroit Tigers and University of Michigan football teams in devotional times.

He has written "The Marriage Manual" and a new book to be published in the spring of 1985.

Bethany Church is located at 810 E. Huron River Drive.

Bolton - Czajka exchange wedding vows

White and pink roses and white pew bows provided the setting for the recent marriage of Donna Leigh Bolton of Westland and Richard Keith Czajka of Westland.

The bride is the daughter of Barbara Hanley of Garden City and Richard Bolton of Westland, while the groom is the son of Richard and Rose Czajka of Westland.

The couple exchanged their wedding vows before 200 guests at St. Mary's Catholic Church of Wayne. Officiating the double ring ceremony was Fr. Timothy Pelc. Music was by organist Larry Schoy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin off-the-shoulder gown, which she had made, for the ceremony. A Vogue hat with a lace trimmed veil and a bouquet of white silk roses, mini-carnations and lily of the valley completed the bridal ensemble.

She asked longtime friend Diane Rosenberger to serve as her maid of honor. She wore a burgandy off-the-shoulder dress and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids were her sister, Nicole Bolton, cousin Jennifer Vansant and sister of the groom, Renee Czajka. They also wore burgandy dresses, accented with Victorian lace from the neck to the shoulders, and carried pink bouquets with white sweetheart roses.

The groom asked childhood friend Stephen Castonguay to serve as his best man, while the ushers were the groom's brothers, Randy and Robert Czajka, and a friend, David Long.

A reception for the newlyweds and their guests, given by their parents, was held at the Karas House in Westland.

The bride, a 1981 graduate of John Glenn High School, is office manager for Tri-Star Tool and Machine. She also is attending Henry Ford Community College, where she has been studying accounting.

Her husband is a 1980 John Glenn graduate. An employee of RHM Fluid power, he also is attending Henry Ford Community College, where he is studying hydraulics, robotics and electronics.

Coming up strawberries

Strawberry Festival President Bobbi Fairman (left) and Festival Director Shirley Books flag down interest for Belleville's biggest bash. "It's no cliché to say this year's festival will be the best one yet," says Fairman. "We've got more groups participating than ever before." This year's festival dates are June 22-24.

Forrest and Wanda Shirley left on Friday of last week for their home at Balrico, Fla., after having spent several days with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Alton P. Shirley of Canton Center Road and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guilstorf of West Columbia Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens and daughter Suzanne were weekend guests of Mrs. Steven's mother, Mrs. Chester Sharp at Morenci, for an early Mother's Day celebration.

Motoring to Litchfield, Ohio, last week to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cullin were relatives, Cora Bradshaw, Marie Roberts, Mildred Artley, Dorothy Mason, Ann and Don Smith, Jim and Betty Webber. All attended the Barbershop Concert on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Stella Neely and friend from Westland were Saturday dinner guests of the former's daughter and husband, the Robert Welts of Willis Road. The occasion was in celebration of Mrs. Neely's birthday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Leschinsky of East Columbia Avenue has received word from her son, Eugene, who is a member of the Los Angeles County Sheriff Department, that he is among the sheriffs who have been assigned to escort the athletes to and from their housing to the Sports Arena, during the Olympic Games from the middle of July until the middle of August.

Mrs. Frances Korgal of Sumpter Road accompanied Mrs. Clara Dunayczan and son, Wally of Lake Columbia, to Vera Beach, Fla., where they spent two weeks with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunayczan and other members of their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allan and son, Steven of Fraser and Mrs. Bertha Potts of West Wabash Street were weekend guests of former West Columbia Ave. residents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hay of Mullet Lake.

After having been a surgical patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for the past 10 days. Mrs. James (Eileen) Graham is now convalescing at home on Potter Drive.

On Saturday, May 5, a large group of Mrs. Velma Kulzer's friends met at the Brass Plaza for Brunch in celebration of Velma's 75th Birthday. There were 75 present.

Mrs. Ada Sager, who had planned the party, welcomed everyone and Merle Touse spoke of Velma's being a lifetime resident of Belleville, and how she has been a person who was, and still is, always looking to see what she can do for someone else, taking people on all sorts of errands, shopping, to the doctor... whatever.

Velma first taught school in New Boston and later came to Belleville to teach, where she retired. She has been a member of the First United Methodist Church in Belleville for 62 years, is active in the senior citizen organization and was active in the Fish program years ago.

Mrs. Sager read a poem, "No Regrets," and presented a beautiful quilt and stoll to match to Velma from the group. She had the quilt made by the women at the Friends Church on Tuttle Hill Road, who give the proceeds for Missions.

Relatives and friends from out of town were present from Birmingham, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Wayne and Westland.

The 37th Bi-Annual Spring Seaway Meet of the Kaiser-Frazer Owners Club was held at the Monroe Knights Inn the weekend of May 5-6.

Area members present besides the Mericles, were Roger Aho, from Plymouth, Robert Boutet of Canton, the Alton Sabins of Romulus, Keith Kreiner of Sumpter and Thomas Buzan from Carleton.

On Sunday, May 6, Mrs. Dorothy Kellas was hostess for the Strand-Weeks Club, OES, at her home on Margery Street. Members came from Detroit, Plymouth and Ypsilanti. The usual "Pot Luck" dinner was enjoyed and a business meeting and social time followed.

CONTACT LENS STICKS TO EYEBALL — PAIN IS EXCRUCIATING

Dear Letter Writer:

I recently had the most terrifying experience with contact lenses. I really feel that the Optometric Center should know what happened and replace my lenses. Please help me write a letter to them.

Sincerely, TR

Dear Optometric Center Director:

On June 9, 1983, I had an eye examination at your Center. On June 13, 1983 I picked up my prescription contact lenses. During the evening of July 23, 1983, I was unable to remove my left contact lens and began to suffer a great deal of pain in my left eye. The pain was unbearable and after several hours of extreme discomfort, I was still unable to either remove the lens and/or alleviate the pain. At approximately 1 a.m. on July 24, I went to a local hospital emergency room. After two hours of treatment, the doctor removed the lens and explained to me that there were superficial scratches on my left cornea. He instructed me to return to your center with my lenses and request as explanation as to why the lenses fit so tightly. He also recommended that I see an eye specialist.

On July 25, 1983, I returned to your center. The physician on duty examined my eye and verified that there were "superficial scratches" on my left cornea. He also informed me that my vision had changed in my left eye. The doctor kept my contact lenses for further examination.

On July 28, I, again returned to your center and was told that my vision was still impaired.

On July 29, 1983 one of your employees called me and told me that my lenses were both "highly contaminated," however she did not know what the contaminant was.

On August 2, 1983, I again, returned to your center, was examined and told that it appeared that the vision in my left eye would not return to its former state. The physician ordered a new pair of lenses for me. On August 12, 1983, I called your center to make arrangements to pick up my lenses and was told "... your lenses were contaminated and are not covered by our warranty ... you will have to repurchase them."

On August 15, 1983, I called, again, and solicited assistance from another employee. On August 19, 1983, having heard nothing from this employee, I again called and was informed that you would replace the left lens because the prescription had changed and charge the insurance company for "breakage or loss," however, the doctor's fee could not be refunded.

On September 9, 1983, I went to an eye specialist. He informed me that my total prescription was incorrect. He put my lenses through an ultra-sound machine and then placed them in my eyes.

Past matrons install new officers

Past Matron Cora Bradshaw was the hostess for the May meeting of the Past Matrons Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, held at her Bedell Street home on Thursday, May 3.

Present for the spring luncheon were 17 members and one guest, the Worthy Matron, June Hawkins. Table centered of spring flowers and little hand crocheted hats served as favors. Her three sisters, Marie, Roberts, Mildred Artley and Dorothy Mason, assisted in the serving.

The retiring president, Florence McKelvey opened the business meeting, with the Chaplain, Eva Luper, having devotions. The newly elected officers, Ruby Clayton, President;

Edna Florian, Vice-president; Rose Ann Welt, secretary; Frances Cothorn, treasurer; and Florence McKelvey, chaplain were installed by Florence Sugars.

A special card was signed and sent to a Past Patron C.P. Harrison, who is very ill at his home at Wartrace, Tenn.

Ruby Clayton and Florence McKelvey held the lucky numbers. The afternoon was spent looking at old pictures and visiting.

Women's Study Club earns honors

The woman's Study Club of Belleville held its May 10 meeting in the lounge of the First Methodist Church.

President Mrs. Justin Emerson presented awards from the State Federation — an honor award for participation in state projects, certificates for per capita giving to Girlstown, and for "penny-a-day" contributions to Girlstown.

A request from the committee to promote the school millage vote was read, and several members volunteered their services to aid in the project. Mrs. Emerson also urged members to join the "Friends of the Library," a group, which is endeavoring to aid in the financing of the Fred C. Fischer Library.

Mrs. Violet Horste, chairman of the Conservation committee, spoke to the club about the 80-acre plot at Grass Bay, on Lake Huron, which is a project to develop the preservation of Great Lakes species of flowers, trees, marshes and nature trails. She also told about the four great nature trails of the United States — The Appalachian, the Continental Divide, the Pacific Crest and the Potomac Heritage trails for walkers and cyclists.

An interesting part of her dissertation concerned a project, which demonstrates what one woman has done to preserve lands for nature development. Mrs. Erna Nixon of Melbourne, Florida, acquired a 70-acre plot adjacent to her home, a natural "hammock," an island carpeted with native Florida flowers, reeds and grasses, and a stand of hardwood trees. She developed the area, added tropical plants and nature walks.

Her enthusiasm spread to the people and the political entity of the area so much that the town and township joined in, acquiring adjoining land and are developing it along the same lines.

Mrs. Nixon, at 93 years, is still an active contributor to the project.

SPENDS MORE —
ON THEIR USED CARS
THAN WE DO.

And we want you to know that we won't sell any used car that the BOSS himself would not drive. We spend more money to make sure that everything on the used car is 'road ready'. We don't just fix the obvious things, like chipped paint or bald tires . . . we look for things that might go wrong in the future.
